How to convert an image into pdf in mobile

When you click a picture from an android phone, the default format of the image is .jpg. So, there are moments when you take a couple of pictures of your documents on your android phone which you need in pdf format to upload somewhere. In that case, you wonder how to get it done and you end up looking for several third-party photo editor apps to do the job. Let me tell you, in this article, I am going to share a method with you which allows you to convert your files directly from the phone without using any additional online photo editor. Yes, that's right! You don't need a third-party app anymore if you are using an android phone. Fact: When you convert a photo into pdf from the phone, it doesn't change the original image, it just creates a new file of that image in pdf format. Watch this video for step-by-step tutorial Or read this walkthrough of the entire procedure Go to your phone gallery Open image that you intend to convert into PDF Tap on vertical Triple dot icon settled at the top right corner of your screen Select Print Tap on down arrow icon In printer settings, select Save as PDF Tap on Download PDF icon Browse folder to save PDF file Tap on Save Before you go, let me know in the comments below about the next topic you want to see on my blog. I will be happy to write a blog or make a video to cover that topic for you. Thanks in advance! More Videos to Watch

Something went wrong. Wait a moment and try again. Drop Files here Enter URL Dropbox Google Drive For maximum compatibility, it is a good idea to convert large picture files into a smaller format prior to putting them on a cell phone. Though it varies between cell phone models, screen resolutions for touchscreen phones are generally no larger than 1136x640 (iPhone 5) or 1280x720 (Samsung Galaxy S3). Non-touchscreen phones have far smaller resolutions. For a picture to display well, its resolution usually needs to be at or slightly above the phone's resolution. In the case of business-related images, such as those intended for advertising or brand recognition, this is especially important. Go to the Start menu, click "All Programs," click "Accessories" and then click "Paint." Click the blue "Paint" button at the top-left of the menu bar, click "Open" and then navigate to and double-click on the picture you need to convert to a cell phone-friendly format. Click the "Resize and skew" button in the "Images" section of the "Home" tab or press "Ctrl-W." Select the "Pixels" option in the "Resize" section of the dialog box, check the "Maintain aspect ratio" check box and then type in the desired size for the image. Click "OK" when done. Click the blue Paint button again and then click "Save as." Navigate to the desired folder and select a file format for the image from the "Save as type" drop-down menu. All cell phones support the "JPEG" format and most also support the "PNG" and "GIF" formats. Click "Save" to save the image. Connect your cell phone to the computer and click and drag the converted image file into its folder to transfer it. Have you taken pictures of a paper document, taken screenshots of web pages, online PDF files using your Android mobile, and now need to convert them to PDF documents? Today we'll show you an easy way to convert images to PDF documents on Android phone using Google Photos app. No need any third-party apps. By converting photos to PDF, you will be able to manage and read them using PDF readers, editors. Also it makes the documents sharing easier. Most Android phones will be loaded with a group of Google apps such as Gmail, Chrome browser, YouTube, Google Maps, Google Drive, Duo, Photos, Sheets, Slides, Docs, etc. In an earlier article, we demonstrated how Android users can save web pages as PDF using Chrome on Android phone. Here we will use the Google Photos to show you how to convert photos, images to PDF on Android phone without any third-party apps, PDF converters, or online image to PDF converting services. Now follow below quick steps to create PDF documents using existing photos, images, screenshots saved on your mobile phone. Convert photos, images to PDF on Android phone Find and launch Google Photos app on your Android device. Grant it the permission to access your media files if prompted. Find and open the image file you want to convert in the Photos app. Tap on the Menu icon (three dots) at the top right corner to bring up the action menu with options to delete the current photo, use it in other apps, print it out to papers, etc. See below figure. Choose Print to open the printer settings and preview screen. Click All Printers to expand the drop-down menu. Instead of selecting an available printer, choose Save as PDF. Optionally you can customize the PDF document, paper size, color, orientation, etc. After that tap on the PDF button to choose a folder on your mobile phone, give the PDF file a new name and save it. Smallpdf is the most popular online PDF tool for all your PDF needs (we have more than 25 million users every month ☺). But because we handle such large amounts of data, we have teamed up with PDF Tools to build our JPG to PDF converter for Android, for you. The format of the images should be fully preserved, even after the file transfer. In case you have received images to your device from other sources, such as PNG, GIF, TIFF, and BMP - you can also pop them into our converter. Smallpdf accepts a wide variety of file formats on top of images, including your favorite Microsoft Office files: Mac, PPT, and Excel. Can I adjust the JPG before the conversion? Once you've uploaded an image to the JPG to PDF converter on your Android phone, the tool will display a preview of the image, along with a few options to adjust the width and height, margin, page size, and page orientation. As you hover over each of the image thumbnails, you will also be presented with options to zoom and deleted individual images. See, all-in-one JPG functionalities.
